

LEED® for Contractors

This half-day seminar is aimed at introducing LEED® to general and trade contractors. This seminar provides a concise overview of the different aspects of a LEED® project that contractors are primarily involved in. LEED® points discussed include:

- Sedimentation and erosion control
- Materials and resources
- Indoor air quality
- LEED® specifications
- Construction waste management
- Education and program monitoring
- Documentation requirements
- Updates to LEED®

Tips, examples, best practices, and challenges will be highlighted throughout the presentation. At the end of this seminar, the attendee will have an understanding of:

- What a LEED® project means for contractors in terms of areas and level of involvement
- Types and extent of documentation required
- Challenges that could arise and methods to address them
- Working with the LEED® framework while maintaining schedule and delivering results

Presenter: Daniel Roberts, LEED® AP BD+C - Kane Consulting Partnership.

Daniel has consulted on multiple LEED for New Construction (LEED-NC), LEED for Existing Buildings (LEED-EB) and LEED for Commercial Interiors (LEED-CI). He has served as a LEED Assessor for the CaGBC to review a project's LEED application and assess whether or not the project meets the stringent requirements of the LEED Rating system. Daniel was also the only Canadian LEED-EB Subject Matter Expert for the USGBC to help develop the LEED EB Exam.
